Now our tutorial of how to make shell bangles aims to lead you into a brand new bangle style. Don't you intend to try hands at this one besides other similar "how to make bracelet cuffs" projects.

Materials and tools:

- Rice shaped brown shell beads
- 0.8mm Silvery copper wire
- 0.6mm silvery copper wire
- Flat nose plier
- Wire cutter

Instructions:

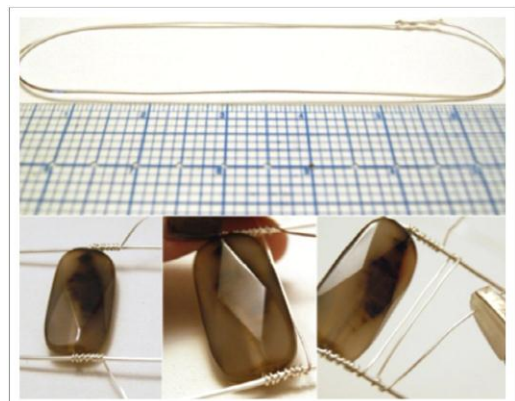

Step 1: make bracelet cuff frame and wrap first shell in 1st, snip about 30cm length of thick wire, wrap it into a hollow cuff shape and twine the ends together.

2nd, snip a long strand of thin wire, thread it through a shell bead and start wrapping two ends around cuff frame from center position;

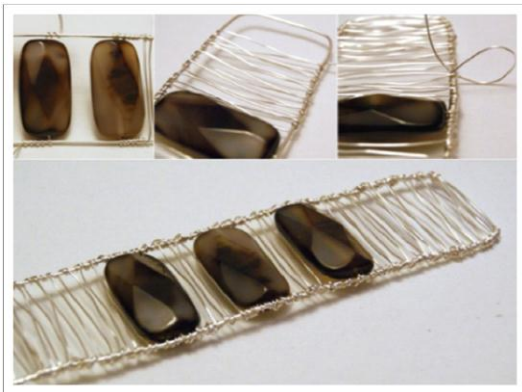

3rd, after several times of tight wrapping, pass the one end of the working wire down to the opposite side of frame, and straighten wire with plier while going.

4th, continue wrapping until to the end of cuff frame, and wrap the other end of working wire around frame tightly.

Step 2: finish the rest part of shell bangle

1st, pick another piece of thin wire as working wire and add another one shell;
2nd, wrap both ends around frame in reverse directions and shuttle between the frame widths;
3rd, add a third bead and wrap until reaching the other end of frame;
4th, use rest wire to cover the ignored space of frame.

Step 3: finalize this wrapped bracelet

1st, cut off excess wire and tuck sharp ends into wrappings;
2nd, bend the whole cuff bracelet into right shape.

Tada, the beautiful bangle is done! In our tutorial, first you'd learn about how to make bracelet cuffs, and then how to make shell bangles, which can be called one stone two birds. When realizing this project, you might encounter some unexpected problem, but just overcome it!
