

DIY ring jewelry- retro-style spoon jewelry making DIY

Our new jewelry making DIY project is this spoon ring; an unused coffee spoon handle is to be upcycled into a retro-style silver ring, which is really great DIY ring jewelry.

A silver ring with beautiful curves and exquisite carving is always expensive in jewelry stores; jewelry making DIY is a more affordable and feasible way to get what you desire. In this DIY ring jewelry project, you can make out this beautiful ring in a quick way.

Materials and tools:

- Unused coffee spoon
- Sanding paper
- Knife
- Marker
- Flat nose plier

Instructions:

Step 1: cut off spoon handle

1st, measure your finger size and mark that length on spoon;

2nd, cut off handle out of spoon;

3rd, trim off sharp angles and sand the edges.

Step 2: bend handle into ring shape

Use plier to bend your handle and slowly shape it into a ring shape which can snugly fit for your finger.

Now the finished DIY ring jewelry is like this:

Our jewelry making DIY is ended up here! As you can see, the spoon ring is seriously simple to make; the materials and tools are often can be found at your kit box. And this ring may be one of a kind.

For more funny and wonderful jewelry making ideas, please visit the webpage at:
<http://www.pandahall.com/learning-center.html>