

Homemade mother's day gift ideas- DIY teething necklace

This DIY teething necklace project will be a great one for homemade mother's day gift ideas on condition that mom just gave birth to little baby. Actually it is a nice present for both mom and baby.

Homemade mother's day gift ideas amount to be plenty at this moment when the big day is just around the corner. Suppose you have a cute baby brother who is Just in teething period, then this DIY teething necklace is not only a good gift for mom, but also a fun for him.

Materials and tools:

- 6mm Suede cord
- Orange wood beads
- Yellow wood beads
- Orange polymer bead
- Yellow polymer bead
- Ribbon tips
- Jump rings
- Lobster clasp
- Round nose plier
- Flat nose plier
- Scissors

Instructions:

Step 1: prepare suede cords for necklace

Snip two pieces of suede cord, one measuring 30cm, and the other 20cm.

Step 2: make necklace pendant

- 1st, slide orange polymer bead onto cord with leaving a 3cm length of loop;
- 2nd, continue beading as picture shows;
- 3rd, pick another piece of suede cord and tie square knots above and below beaded part.

Step 3: finish the teething necklace

- 1st, use longer cord to tie a lark's head knot around the pendant loop;

- 2nd, add tips to both ends and attach the clasp.

The finalized necklace is like this:

Now we have completed DIY teething necklace project; we think this is one of the most considerate handmade mother's day gift ideas; what every mom need is not a flamboyant gift which lack of genuine affection, but a considerate care even just contained in a not-very-beautiful present.

Diverse thread and cord and be found on our webpage:

<http://www.pandahall.com/wholesale-Thread-Cord/54.html>