1. Using your fingers, flex the corners of the base of the iPhone case until a small click is heard at one corner.

2. Method 1:
Keep on flexing the iPhone case until one corner of the iPhone is completely released; it is easier if you have nails, if you cannot do this try Method 2.

Method 2:

Use this method if you really can't release it using the first method.

Use a small non-metallic item such as a cocktail stick and wedge this in-between the lip of the iPhone and the case and then flex the case over this corner which should make it easier to release.

3. Grab hold of the released corner of the iPhone and release the other corner by flexing the case on the other side or just pull the iPhone outwards.
